ABOUT TRICIA MANNING, PCC

Tricia Manning is an author, ICF-certified Executive Coach and former global business leader. After spending 25 years in corporate leadership positions and honing her skills and experiences in operations, human resources and leadership development, she founded White Cap Coaching, a global coaching & consulting firm.

As an Executive Coach, Tricia helps her clients explore ways to maximize their executive-level leadership skills and accelerate their overall professional development. Her unique background allows her to bring real-life expertise and understanding around talent, culture and leadership to every coaching engagement and she is committed to helping individuals, teams and organizations achieve positive results.

Tricia believes this can be done with authenticity and in staying true to values, beliefs and style.

Her most recent clients include Directors to C-level leaders in organizations such as:

NRG Energy | HCA Healthcare | Microsoft | Hilton | Epsilon

Community and nonprofit work is also a foundational pillar of Tricia's impact as she coaches and mentors local nonprofits in building long-term capacity for innovation.

Tricia lives in St. Petersburg, FL and is a wife, mom to a 20 year old son and two wonderful bonus kids.

TESTIMONIAL

“Tricia has a talent for taking her toolbox and customizing it in a way to help me further leverage my authentic strengths and look at what’s possible in a unique way. Her approach to imagining “what if” was insightful and freeing.” ~SVP

“Tricia’s deep understanding of the human psyche, what motivates people to succeed and how to turn that knowledge into outcomes that are transformational is an incredible talent that few possess. Our organization is better off for having engaged her.” ~CEO
